

Tast 2.7:

Data:

Bar chart - displays difficulty against cooking_time

Pie Chart - shows cooking_time

Line Chart - shows difficulty

Thoughts:

In my mind a recipe app doesn't need graphs, I did this because it is what was required but I do think that a recipe app should be simple. I think all apps in general should be simple and not cluttered with different views. The main reason I think this is because users want simple apps, not apps that are going to give them too many things to do, simplicity is key. I felt that during this project, everything has come together so beautifully, the graphs were an interesting addition, however I would have chosen to not use them.